Keynote Speakers

Simon Burall, Involve UK

Simon Burall is the Director of Involve. He has long and extensive experience in the fields of democratic reform, governance, public participation, stakeholder engagement, and accountability and transparency. He has worked at the national level in Africa, Asia and Europe as well as on related issues of global governance and democracy.

Shari Davis, City of Boston

Shari Davis is responsible for the strategic development and management of The Participatory Budget Project's (PBP) network-building work and for launching new high impact participatory budgeting processes. As Director of Youth Engagement and Employment for the City of Boston she launched Youth Lead the Change, the first youth participatory budgeting process in the US, which won the US Conference of Mayors' City Livability Award.

Maree Adshead, Open Data Institute

Maree is the founding CEO of the Open Data Institute Queensland (ODI Queensland). Globally it is the ODI's mission to connect, equip and inspire people around the world to innovate with data. ODI Queensland, now in its second year, is already recognised not just within Queensland, but nationally and internationally, as a leader in bringing together business, industry, academia and government to utilise government data as a strategic resource.

DAY ONE

Monday 17th October

11.00am

// Registrations Open
InterContinental Hotel Adelaide

1.00pm - 4:00pm

// Elective #1 Citizens' Jury Workshop facilitated by Max Hardy
When are they useful and what do you need to get right for it to work? InterContinental Hotel Adelaide Citizens' Juries are changing the way democracy is done in South Australia by creating a new balance between experts and the public. Join Max Hardy to explore the theory behind Citizens' Juries and hear from a panel of speakers who will share their experiences as the Authority, a Jury facilitator, an Expert Witness and a Jury Member. A 360° view of their shared experiences will stimulate an interactive discussion with the audience. Using an online tool, Articulous Communications will crowd source live questions for the panel.

OR

1.00pm - 6:00pm

// Elective #2 Community Engagement Project Tour of Various Sites
This year's Engagement Tour will kick off at 12.45pm at the InterContinental Hotel. The bus will head to St Kilda and include presentations from the City of Salisbury, Adelaide Plains Council and the Adelaide International Bird Sanctuary. Following afternoon tea delegates will be invited to join a Bird ID walk on the foreshore with Birdlife Australia. The bus is scheduled to return to Adelaide no later than 6pm
